

*Knowledge
"The Best You"*

Abby Moore, Class of 2019 Top Ten

What do you think seeking knowledge really means? Is it wanting to read a book about history, or learn about space? Do you think it's learning how to do a math problem or changing a tire? All of these things are a form of knowledge, which we can learn from school, mentors or personal experience.

Many of us probably think that we are fairly knowledgeable through our educations at school, but we should never stop trying to learn. Knowledge is the most important thing a person can own. It gives you independence and success.

A true leader wants to be the best they possibly can, and you can't do that without knowledge. I've looked up to my mother my whole life, but I've just recently come to understanding how she made herself successful.

Being the first person in her family to go to college, she made a life for herself and showed me what it means to seek knowledge and success. She's helped fulfill my life to the fullest and I hope all of you have a person like her too, to show you the way to be the best you possibly can.
